

This Website Does Not Create an Investigator-Client Relationship

The information in this website is an introduction to Split Rock Investigations LLC and is intended to provide general information about the company.

Inquiries Regarding Potential Investigative Assistance

Using this website to communicate about potential assistance does not, by itself, create an investigator-client relationship between you and Split Rock Investigations. It is possible that a relationship may result from your inquiry later only if you and Split Rock Investigations both agree that we will do so. This agreement will normally be in a written Letter of Engagement.

Split Rock Investigations will treat communications about potential assistance or seeking advice as protected in accordance with the privileges that attach to communications seeking investigative assistance. Split Rock Investigations keeps confidential and does not share your communications about potential assistance or to seek advice using this website with third parties.

By submitting your contact information when communicating about potential assistance or to seek legal advice, you agree that Split Rock Investigations may contact you using the information you submit.

Hiring a private investigator is an important decision that should be based on careful research and inquiry. If you would like more information about our agency, please contact us. You may reach us via phone at (763) 954-0825 or via email at Splitrockinvestigations@gmail.com.

All states and jurisdictions have statutes that make it unlawful for persons to hold themselves out as investigators unless they are licensed to practice in that state. Split Rock Investigations is licensed to provide investigative services in Minnesota and North Dakota.
